

Empowerment for migrants from camps to integration

The Lifelong Learning World Committee (CMAtlv), a UNESCO partner NGO and with participatory status at the Council of Europe, is organizing a conference debate on the European CAMPLUS project funded by ERASMUS+.

Thursday, October 10, 2024 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. (M.E.T.)

at the Cité des sciences et de l'Industrie of Paris

Face-to-face and remote in French and English with simultaneous translation

Is your NGO or Organization interested in accompanying and training young people and refugees and displaced people?
This event is for you.

The CMAtlv has initiated, coordinated and implemented the CAMPLUS project, since the end of 2021, in partnership with: the Polytechnic University of Erbil (UPE) and European organizations: IED, Larissa-Greece, WHKT-Germany, IRSEI and CEIPES-Italy and VPL Netherlands.

The CAMPLUS action was carried out on two sites: Kurdistan-Iraq camps, under the leadership of the UPE and in Larissa in Greece by the iED.

This project aims to empower the target audience but also to provide assistance in the development of micro-projects of collective interest of all kinds.

The CMAtlv and its partners will present the conclusions of the project after these experiences and its results, they will also present the tools developed by the partners which will be made available to all free of charge via an interactive platform.

We also want to give a voice to NGOs and other organizations so that they can ask their questions and provide testimonies. It is a question of sharing our experiences and disseminating as many good practices as possible.

From now on, you can register to bring your testimonials or simply reserve your seats at the following address: contact@cmatlv.org
